

32nd Wildwood International Kite Festival

By Mike Dallmer with help from Cel Dallmer

Wow. What a blast! 4 days of activities and kite flying.

Friday started off with the official opening of the beach with all kinds of dignitaries and a slightly flooded beach. Cel and I spent most of Thursday and Friday preparing to feed the masses at the Friday Night Social.

The Friday Night Social was again a rousing success with South Jersey Kite Flyers feeding 69 kite flyers. . Helping Cel with rounding out the menu was Ben Huggett's Grandmom's baked beans, Don and Mike 3 meat salads (I heard nothing but raves about the chopped liver), Angelo's salsa and chips, Barbara Birmann's cheesecake brownies dessert, Joe Grumpy's brownies mint and chocolate , Evelyn Rossback's lemon cake, Cinda's pineapple upside down cake, bread pudding from Larry and Nancy Krablin. I'm sure I forgot at least one donation, we are sorry but thing were hectic. Helping serve were Jackie Lamoureux, Hank, Cinda and Kevin. Running his butt all over was Mike Jr filling in wherever needed along with our grandson Marc doing the same.

Saturday was a bit gloomy but that didn't stop kite flyers from decorating the sky with all kinds of kites and creatures. The day was cut short for the Dallmer's as we were committed to setting up and running the auction. At one point I looked out the window around 3, I think, and saw a downpour so it wasn't only us whose flying day was cut short. The Auction was in a new location and we were a bit concerned about this but it worked out well. Mike Jr, as usual was in charge of electronics, Cel was keying in items and distributing bidder numbers and Marc along with Rick Mingeram ran the Silent auction. Also I'd like to thank Jeff King and Dennis Hawley for being the Vanna Whites of the Auction. It was also great to work again with Roger Chewning and Ron Gibian, the auctioneers. I need to add that Marc has really taken to this job and is doing it well. Mike, he just did his usual.

Sunday kite flying was our day to fly and man was it the most awesome day of the weekend, sunshine and steady winds till about 3. The kite flyers that were there however put on one of the best shows I have seen in a while with the Festival Field filled with all kinds and sizes of kites. I am not going to try to name all SJKF who there but there were a lot of us, thanks...

Monday indoor was perfect timing as the fields were again flooded, as a matter of fact, where the sales tent was there was about a foot of water. The indoor I always find very sensual and this year was no exception. The highlight for me was James "Fletch" Fletcher at the end of his routine taking off his shirt and having a tribute to Rich Comas on it along with "F Cancer", I have no more words....

I'm still waiting for information on who won the Scott E Spencer Kite Making Awards but I think the winners of the money were Donna Taylor won from the Judges with her airplane and Phil Broder won with his Carl Robertshaw designed the ice crystal.

Mike Jr and Marc Gorski (Eldest Grandson) stepped up to fill in some of the void left by my back and health, you guys made us look good, thanks!

Finally, I would really like to thank Cel, for all the hard work making the entire weekend a success especially all the behind the scenes work she does in making the Friday Night Social the success it is, she spends countless hours planning, shopping, cooking, prepping food and putting up with me.

The First Annual Sky Arts Kite Festival

By Charles Stewart

It has been a while since there was an organized kite festival at Liberty State Park in Jersey City, NJ. With the Sky Arts event Kurtis Jones and his Wind Wolves are looking to change that. Flying kites at Liberty State Park is nothing new to Kurtis and members of the old Liberty High Spirits of 14B kite group. Many of the original High Spirits were on hand to help Kurtis kick off what we all hope will be a long and success event. Tony Jetland came from California with a Rolf Zimmerman Dragon, a Trilobite or two helping full the sky. Thanks to Gary Engvall we had beautiful roped off fields to fly on. Gary had his usual array of large kites in the air. Michael Nivens from New York City had a pair of large flow forms in the wind with one hundred foot tube tails, impressive. The Rev Riders and other four line pro's did demo's to entertain the crowds. Thanks to good winds there were plenty of two line fliers showing off their skills as well. Dennis Smith was his usual self at the microphone. Kurtis Jones filled in well. Charles Stewart tried out a 40 meter Snake kite. It was fresh out of the bag. It did not embarrass him. It flew like a Snake, wiggling around in the air. At this event I saw a Fighter kite flyer use a line drum. He flew the kite by running line on and off the line drum. The line drum was shaped like a wide wheel and had a hand hold on one side. The hand hold was mounted on ball bearings. Maybe I'll start practicing, then maybe not. We all look forward to next year and a bigger and better Kiting event.

Presidential Ponderings and Duck Droppings

By Mike Dallmer

Hello Fellow Kite Flyers, I hope we are done with this damp, dreary Spring and getting ready to enjoy some beautiful weather.

We have been real busy going to events and flying kites, you have had many choices. Coming up we have the Chester County Balloon Festival which you needed to tell me if you were coming or pay at the door, helping with the 10th Anniversary Elliot's Legacy Kite Fly for Lung Cancer and our SJKF Meeting and 2nd Annual Back to the Fort Kite Fly and BBQ at Fort Mott. For a complete list of events along with more details, please see the calendar in the back of this newsletter.

We have had a few events cancel for one reason or another and this is a little frustrating as there is a lot of work that goes into planning before you even know about them. I'm sorry this has happened but I have had nothing to do with these canceling.

SJKF is doing ok thanks to a few kite builds and your continued support. Right now we have 75 members and $5,766.39, good but not fantastic but hopefully that will change after Wildwood and a few more kite builds.

Plans are already being made for SJKF's 23rd Anniversary Bash with donations already from Kevin Bayless (Rokkaku) and Water Corsetti (Kite Stakes)

Finally, thank you, thank you, and thank you!! For being a SJKF Member and making my job fulfilling by leading a great bunch of people.

Good winds...Mike

AKA Region 2 has a Regional Director, thanks Kurtis Jones for volunteering for this very important position on the AKA Board. I would also like to thank outgoing RD, Don Mc Gee...

Look for Kurtis on the flying field either behind the microphone, with Wind Wolves or Flying a kite.

Slipping Patterns?

By Mike Dallmer

Patterns slipping around on that ripstop you are trying to hot cut?

I recently got Cork Duck Tape from Amazon and put it on the backs of my patterns and it totally stopped the slipping and sliding around.

MIKE/MASC - April 28-30 2017 -Ocean City, Maryland

By Nancy Krablin

Friday, the sky was full of color when Larry and Nancy drove across the causeway and up Atlantic Avenue toward the Kite Loft, annual sponsor of the first major east coast festival every year. This was a day of winds kites crave, those perfect 7-12 mph up the beach from the south! We wished we had hit the road before sunrise to enjoy more time flying! Larry's Christmas Caterpillar and Trilobite were soon adding to the color in the skies and I had time to play with "Abigail", our mid vent Rev that is named, with parental permission, for the granddaughter who arrived the same day as the triangle box! Saturday morning, however, the winds were squirrely, gusting over the high rises and dying... lots of nylon dead on the beach at noon. "Board walkers" were asking where are the kites? Somehow the reality that there was no air moving had not registered.. Kites do need wind to stay aloft, though many diehard fliers did try! Competitions were postponed, as even the most skilled of flyers requires a minimal velocity to keep nylon aloft.

Many, many familiar faces were on the beach, but "the gang was ALL here" when Cel, Mike and Mike Jr. arrived! Shortly after Dallmers had planted the last Duck by their shelter, the winds shifted almost 180 Degrees, found the beach and the kites that were DOA began to rise one after another. The SLK's required a lot of attention, but the afternoon produced a colorful sky for passersby.

Though the winds were a bit challenging, both Larry's 8' Rokkuki, Circles and mine, HOPE got into the sky. Mine needed major tuning, so I hiked quarter mile up the beach and returned with Rok expert, Gary Engvall. He spent over an hour teaching and helping us make her fly reasonably... and sent home with instructions to re-bridle with 500 lb. line! By the end of the afternoon, I have very good advice should I ever decide to construct another huge Rokkaku!

The auction had several kites from Rich Comras' ... collection, much coveted and bid accordingly!

Will Smoot was on the beach for a night fly. We assisted him in getting two rigs in the air. When both were reeled in, he asked if we intended to go to WIKF and invited us to take one of these to share there. It had been gifted to him by ... pass the love along.

On Sunday there was lots of moisture and no air to move it out to sea until about noon. The upper stories of hotels were in fog! After a leisurely lunch, the wind moved and came from the north around 1:30 p.m. Buildings became clear and kites popped up from every shelter on the beach. At 2:30, there was a 180 degree shift from north to south! Fortunately, all kites had "baby sitters" and no one was swept off the sands by rotating kites!

We arrived in Ocean City with 5 kites we had not flown. Larry had a Sting from MKS, a Tyro from UMAKE, and an 8 foot Rokkaku, "Circles". Nancy had an 8' Broder Ice Crystal from UMAKE, and her HOPE kite. All were "christened" and brought home some Ocean City sand to take to Wildwood Memorial Day.

2017 Retrospective- Our First Wildwood International Kite Festival

By Nancy Krablin

In Larry and I registered for our first Wildwood Festival. It was the last year the Rio hosted... no tears there! As an upstate New Yorker, I was introduced to the Jersey shore tradition of staying in the same room of the same motel as an annual rite of summer. I was amazed at the number of kites and astounded to overhear conversations among MEN about the finer points of needle selection, tension adjustment, specific brands of.... sewing machines prior to the SJKF Buffet! Why were MEN discussing sewing machines? How naïve I was about the world of kiting!

We were fortunate to happen into a workshop Joel Brown was giving at the Convention Center on scoring kite competitions... What?? Having spent the week 24/5 at camp with 7th graders, I crept to the back of the room and slept on a table, but Larry engaged kites in conversation and we were invited to join Joel and Deb, and Alice and Marc for dinner, the first of many, at Little Italy. (We later discovered that this quad competed in team train ballet, among the many things that awed and amazed us that fateful weekend!) As many kiting conversations begin... "What do you fly?" Not much and not well, actually. Our "problem" was readily diagnosed. "Invest in a bigger kite that is easier to fly." The Kite Loft had a shop on the beach. Jay sold us a Prism Quantum... and the rest is history!

Registering for the festival was a bit of a whim. Our experiences were in a "whole new world", I suppose I might say serendipitous in retrospect! The people were warm and welcoming, the weather was perfect, the skills we saw- neophytes that we were- absolutely amazing. We sat on the bleachers placed next to the competition fields, enjoyed Dennis Smith's sonorous voice and engaging commentary, oohed and aahed as skills we did not know existed were displayed for the enjoyment of all.

Being so convenient to the annual camping trip from school at Cape Henlopen, we returned and became more and more drawn into the kiting world.

Editor's note: The Rio was torn down in 2006 as far as I can tell

Smelly Ripstop

From Thom Mc Adams

While cleaning out some old kite stuff I found some fabric and got tired of the smell so I looked it up and found this. Turns out the coating is breaking down and that is what causes the smell

-How to Remove PU Odors from Tents or other nylon

Mold and mildew aren't always the culprits with foul-smelling tents. Many times tents stink because the polyurethane coating which is applied to the underside of the tent fly or inside of the tent floor is beginning to break down. Many people may notice a vomit smell in the tent or liken it to urine. It is actually a chemical reaction caused by the breakdown of urethane.

To treat these types of odors, we recommend the following:

Ideally, you will need to remove the failing PU coating to put a stop to the bad smells.

Begin by filling a tub or container with enough warm water to submerge the item. Add about 5 drops of liquid soap.

Submerge the tent and soak for 2-3 hours. Remove the tent from the bath and gently scrub the polyurethane coating (typically applied to the underside of tent flies and the top side of tent floors) with a mixture of isopropyl alcohol, water and a couple of drops of soap. Keep a dish towel nearby to soak up excessive residue.

Once you've removed the old coating, you can apply a new PU coating using Tent Sure™. Apply a thin film of Tent Sure onto the tent floor (inside) or tent fly (underside). Allow 24 hours to dry.

Once dry sprinkle with baby or talcum powder to alleviate any initial tackiness

Or you can just throw it out.

West Vincent Twp Kite Fly

By Cliff Quinn

Chris May was helping Cliff Quinn conducting the first of hopefully many kite making activities at the West Vincent Twp Pa. Community Day event. Weather was overcast but the wind was fine. Lots of children had smiles ear to ear flying their 2 foot diamond kites. They were so proud of the pictures they drew on the sails and then were thrilled seeing them high up in the sky. One mother said this was the first kite they ever had that actually flew.

Short Reports

By Charles Stewart

Kites at Davenport Park

Saturday May 20th I went to the kite event put on every year by the New Rochelle, NY dept of parks. It is held in Davenport Park. This park is right on long Island sound and when the wind is off the water kite flying is very good indeed. Billy E. & Lucio P. came all the way from the Kites in Motion kite club in Coney Island, Brooklyn. They put up three lifters and loaded them with lots of line laundry. The City had bought several cases of kites to give away. Free kites. One case of Eddy Diamond kites did not come with tails. Eddy Diamonds will fly without tails, up to a point. The wind was past that point. I happened to have five rolls of flagging tape in one of my bags. It was quickly put to good use. Another case of Diamond kites needed the two point bridle attached. Those Kites where they give you a piece of string with a plastic ring already tied on it You need to tie the short end of the string to the top of the kite and the long end to the bottom. The volunteers handing out kites were not kites and were clueless as how to assemble the kites. I quickly trained a few volunteer to assemble the kites. A few people tried to do it themselves. I think these were the kites I rescued the trash cans later. With all the problems there were lots of kites in the air. I had a great time doing what I like best, helping others enjoy kites.

PS 132 PTA Kite Festival

I helped start this kite festival over ten years ago. It is now in its third location. River Bank Park in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. It is a fund raiser for the school's PTA. The PTA has gone from buying kites from "Lets Fly Kites" to making their own Kites and now back to buying them again. I helped them pick a variety of kites that could be colored or flown as is. The Butterflies and the Owls were popular for coloring with the children. The PTA had bought lots of flagging tape so tails were added whenever the Kites asked for them. The public bought credits that allowed them to buy kites, food, and rides. The park only allows kites that are Biodegradable to be flown. The kites sold by the PTA were biodegradable. I must say nobody was walking around checking kites. As the guest flier I was allowed to fly "regular" Kites. I put up and staked out a Large Smiley face kite and then took a 40 meter Snake kite out of the bag. A first time flyer, it did not embarrass me and flew very well. It looked quite impressive in the air. I could not fly to many kites as the field was full of kids and parents having a great time enjoying my favorite hobby

The Birth of Frankengecko

By Dr Frandenkitepairer

I was recently asked if I could repair a kite that somehow got wrapped around a telephone pole with a pilot and another Peter Lynn Gecko still attached and totally powered up. From what I have been told, names are not important, the police and electric company had to be called to safely remove the kite from the pole. Needless to say this left the kite with many tears, friction burns and torn bridle attachment and bridles. My first thoughts were buy a new kite, it was that bad, but it was explained to me that this kite was really special and meant a lot to the owners. I reluctantly said I would repair the kite but I wanted total artistic license in the repair. The owner agreed but also understood there were a few projects before him.

After much delay (No Ben, not as much as Jack Benny) work was begun and after 2 days and 10 hours of labor Frankengecko was born and held air. There were only 3 places that needed fabric added and most of the rest were repaired by Polyester Insignia cloth cut in either blood droplets of different sizes or Frankenstein type stitches, therefore the new name. It also needed 3 manicures as the toes were ripped. Pictures were sent to the owner during repair and he was very happy with the progress.

Dr Frandenkitepairer and the misses took the kite outside and inflated Frankengecko to see if it would hold air, see if any more repairs were needed and to figure out the bridle. It held air and after untangling the mess of a bridle, all lines were reattached to the replaced attachment points and the bridle was properly braded.

Delivery happened at Wildwood and the owners were pleasantly surprised and after seeing the addition to the tail, I think I saw a few tears in their eyes.

All I can say is, "IT'S ALIVE!!!!" Editor's note: The owners wish to remain anonymous
